Editorial Review

Review

"I think THE ART OF THEATRE is superior because it relates theatre to what the students already know: TV, film, and what's available to them via the web and internet. Breaking the information up into smaller segments (via text boxes and features) also helps to provide changing stimulation, which they seem to need."

"The entire history section is VERY important. I also enjoy the chapter on Creativity and the Ensemble. Again, we have a class of diverse experience. I find them useful."

"The students relate very well to the book and find it very exciting. The students really like the student website, and I see an improvement in test scores when students use the website in addition to reading the text."
